Trade: Rodec Restyler for Sherman Filterbank

Interested in checking out a Sherman Filterbank after buying a Rodec Restyler and playing around with it for a few weeks. The Restyler is great, but very much meant for live performing as far as I can tell. I really want a good filter to process my sounds through and I think a Filterbank has more of the options and sound I am looking for.

Would anyone be interested in trading a Filterbank 2 for a Restyler?

I have both and depending on what type of music you are making I have found the Restyler to actually be the more playable device for live settings. Sure, the filterbank and get a little weirder and integrates more with say modular gear but the immediacy and better env following on the Restyler has made it my go to for beat based music. If I had a spare FB I would trade you in a heartbeat.
