
New Moderator: Nils

Posted by actuel - 2010/11/10 01:51

Hey fellow E-Uers,

I want to take the opportunity to formally announce our new moderator to Elektron-Users, Nils. If you don't already know, Nils is a veteran to E-U with a wealth of knowledge, an overall asset to the community.

Our motivation for adding another moderator is due to scheduling of other moderators and the rapid growth new users. The forum so rarely needs moderated as it is, as this is a great group, but having active eyes and moderators keeps the spam and trash out.

I'm quite excited about this and honored to have Nils moderating for us. He's good people.

Cheers,
a

Now Nils, don't get so busy moderating that you stop offering glimpses into that deep knowledge base of yours. Wouldn't be fair now that you've got me addicted. :silly:

Thanks people! :) I look forward to abusing my powers :P

@Bongsau: I'm flattered! How cool that someone still listens to that. It was a "breakthrough" for me, and a very cool experience.

@Liveseq: This is the set:

It was that set that finally made me commit to buying my 1st MD, inspirational stuff. There's no shame in advertising it; it needs to be heard!

I remember being very impressed by that Liveset. Especially the stringstuff.

Good stuff, Nils..

what a superb tea break. B) I have yet to get sounds like this from my MD. I especially like the filter sweep growl things at 22 mins. The kraftwerkian drums are awesome.

Thanks for the kind words, everyone :) It's awesome knowing that my stuff has been influential. I'm quite certain that was the first ever Machinedrum-only live gig.

@EM9: which fjord is that? :)

Picture was taken from the ferry pier in Stranda so if memory serves well it is the Norddalsfjord.

Love Norway - will be back - maybe next summer already.

Welcome Nils !

IÂ’ve been following the Elektron Forums for a few weeks until I decided to join it.
After I joined the monome community about 2 years ago I didnÂ’t actually want to join another community (I like to keep things minimal, this is my 2nd community ;)), but it seemed quite nice here...and I want that Octatrackercommunicationmadnesssobadalso :laugh:

Really like your live set.
