
OToneSample

Here's an example of using the Octatrack to turn one sample into the elements for an entire track that literally took only a few minutes to whip up. The long "impact tone" before the beat is the source audio, the following one bar sequence is 7 tracks forged from the source audio with no outside processing whatsoever.

This could be a fun theme for future sandbox fun?

that's possibly my favorite OT demo i've heard yet -- very cool use of a spectrally-rich stab to get all that music from.
