Resampling discovery.

Want to share something that I dont think it is stated in the user manual.

Suppose you have set up Track 8 as master.

If you set up a buffer to record Track 8 output you would expect to record "what you hear".

That isn't exactly true.

It's better if you set up SRC3 to main output since this will take into account the gain that you have imposed in the mixer screen.

The same applies for single soloed tracks. If you want to sample what you hear choose main option in SRC3 parameter.
