
OT: issue when connecting to a virus TI Snow?

Posted by riri - 2012/04/25 02:37

Hello everyone!

I could not find an answer in the forum so I ask my question in a new thread ;-)

When I connect directly (midi to midi) my OT with a Virus TI SNOW and launch a midi sequence.. the Virus TI snow send back in A-B a long infinite noise!

if I do the same with a small synth (Shruti - 1), no noise but nice bass :-)

Can you tell me if you have already encountered this kind of issue, what shall I configure on y virus?

Cheers!

=====

Re:OT: issue when connecting to a virus TI Snow?

Posted by the dreammer - 2012/04/25 02:52

hmmm..

if you had no sound what so ever from the virus.. i would say, your doing something wrong..
but you say your shruti box does work. and if you repeat those steps with virus.. it does not.

hmmm.. if i was in your shoes.. i try if the virusses outputs would work yeah or neh.

if they dont.. start 2 cry...

if they do.. try it in octatrack without midi.. but just by pressing button.

if that does not work.. its weird,

if it works.. look in manual if the virus is multitimbral (should be) and if it can just recieve midi on all 16 channels without setting some configuration thing.. (my mc909 does not, you need a config-setting somewhere. My mv8800 does it.. but needs a bunch of setup thingies before it works as a multitimbral device..)

and try the midi thing, after changing the setup of the virus somewhere..

hmm.. i hope this list helps out.. if it doesnt.. i am sorry.. i gave it my best shot :)
i just keep my fingers crossed its not a broken virus.. nobody likes broken toys :(

=====

Re:OT: issue when connecting to a virus TI Snow?

Posted by riri - 2012/04/25 17:07

Thanks a lot!

I will try:

look in manual if the virus is multitimbral (should be) and if it can just recieve midi on all 16 channels without setting some configuration thing.. (my mc909 does not, you need a config-setting somewhere. My mv8800 does it.. but needs a bunch of setup thingies before it works as a multitimbral device..)

and try the midi thing, after changing the setup of the virus somewhere..

as I think you may right!!!

:-)

=====

Re:OT: issue when connecting to a virus TI Snow?

Posted by BlueWolfSe7en - 2012/04/25 17:40

Have you got midi in & out connected? If so you may be creating a midi loop. Try it with only one cable, OT out to Virus in.
Also are you connected via usb to your computer in Ti mode?

You should be able to select midi source as midi in or usb or both, you can on the Virus Ti!

=====

Re:OT: issue when connecting to a virus TI Snow?

Posted by riri - 2012/04/26 17:18

Have you got midi in & out connected? If so you may be creating a midi loop. Try it with only one cable, OT out to Virus in.

I use only one cable , no midi loop ;-)

Also are you connected via usb to your computer in Ti mode?

You should be able to select midi source as midi in or usb or both, you can on the Virus Ti!

not sure to know how to change the setting but I noticed that following issue:

1- I connect the OT with a midi cable to the virus... I got from the virus some strange audio noize!

2- I connect the Virus via USB to my computer,

3- I launch ableton live, I put the VST plug in Virus TI SNOW on a track,

4- I change in the VST the configuration -> part 1, 2, 3, 4 -> OUT L+R (and not USB 1).

5- I disconnect my USB cable.

6- I connect the OT with a midi cable to the Virus..

7- I get a nice sound from the virus! it works..

8- I put my VIRUS TI SNOW asleep, I awake the virus, then I launch a midi sequence from the OT, the virus sends me back strange audio noize.. I need to go to step 2 to get a nice sounds :-(

I don't understand the issue, could it be that I need to STORE my setting in the VIRUS ? change a param in the machine???

Don't know! can you help?

Cheers.

=====

OT: issue when connecting to a virus TI Snow? ISSUE SOLVED

Posted by riri - 2012/04/28 18:01

Helllloo!

I found the issue.

The virus was sending some weird noizy sounds because I had the INPUT Thru + BOOST at the MAX Level while I was not connecting anything into the INPUT L+R of the virus.

Once I have disable the Input Thru / or / I reduce the boost to zero... the weird sounds disappear and let the space for NICE SOUNDS!!!

:~)

=====

Re:OT: issue when connecting to a virus TI Snow? ISSUE SOLVED

Posted by the dreammer - 2012/04/28 21:17

congratulations..

atleast your sure you dont have a broken toy... happy days..

weird problem though.. would not have guessed that one quickly i think..

=====