
Suggestions for Archiving Elektron-Users

Posted by JES - 2012/09/06 21:34

Since this site is going away soon, it would be good for us to think about how it should be archived.

Obviously, some kind of searchable archive of posts is essential. But I also think it would be REALLY useful to have a "classic threads" section. As a relatively new users, I am still finding stuff from years back that is useful to me. I wish there were stick "MD classic threads" threads and videos/tutorials threads like there is for the OT.

That way, someone new who shows up has a wealth of resources to work through.

=====

Re:Suggestions for Archiving Elektron-Users

Posted by z01d - 2012/09/07 01:10

Or, you can just lock it and leave it as is. It has high visibility in Google, just search "site:elektron-users.com your search string"

=====