
Alternative converter from .wav to digipro?

Is there one? A .1+ second sample length doesn't do it for me. A better c6 need to be made to handle more complex waveforms. Looping should also be optional with support for one-shot waves. It would vastly increase the MMs usefulness. Maybe a Wave/Aiff editor where you can set the loop point combined with conversion software. That could be going to far, I just need 3-4 second waves processed.
