
Anyone here likes real rolling techno?

Posted by AOT - 2013/05/10 22:42

Hi everyone!

I have made a set of rolling uplifting Techno tunes strictly vinyl.
someone might find it handy for a boost of energy.

Since i never get the links right from here try copy paste to url

<http://www.mixcloud.com/AOT/aot-hard-karlek/>

It has no Elektrons Involved yet. This will be implemented in later festivals in sweden.

Feel free to comment

wanna here me live, come to Å-resundsfestival 11/5

Have a nice day!

A.O.T

P.s
Can anyone start a thread of basic how to implement URL links in the post new message field?.....

Reminds me of the old hardtechno days (where hardtechno nowadays is more like gabber/hardcore).

The sounds are in line with the classic Drumcode sound. Although it doesn't need to be this hard for me I really like the sound. Industrial and neverending.....nice job!

Oh wait...I just recognized some tracks now and realized this is a mix. Stupid me! :)

Still though.....on a festival on in a club I would rather hear this than another minimal techno set that doesn't go anywhere for an hour.

Yeah been running techno nights in Manchester (uk) on and off for about 5 years.

Latest residency is called ritual and we had our first party last weekend with orphx/CWS/systemic as guests.

Myself and Casual Vilence are residents.

Here's a few mixes but the newest is about 3 yrs ago. :)

Mix sounds good!! To me, on the more new industrial tip than rolling but proper. :)

^ ste is a fantastic producer and nice fella, he's on hand to help me move house next week funnily enough. He Turns down work all the time both djing and production so he can be in control of his identity and only do stuff he's really into. Its not like he couldn't do with the cash either but chooses to be more unknown than most. He's hardly known in manchester for instance. I booked him for a night I ran called mitternacht in about 2010 along with szare's first live set, who where just recording for horizontal ground (also from Manchester)

Where you based?

well. Im based in Malmö. its 20 min with train to Copenhagen.Malmö is small but creatively bubbly..
I have produced music for about 15 years or so. No releases, no one heard anything. after i hooked up to soundcloud a year ago it started rolling. Now i witness a boom of interest. Suddenly i have releases on three labels this year. getting booked for festivals and so on really interesting times and i am really grateful. I just love making music. started clubbing -94

thank you so much for the nice compliments

Åresundsfestival tonight at debaser, 6000 tickets sold over 2 days. meee liiiike

Great set man. I'm a little biased as I'm a huge fan of this percussive hard style of techno.
Cheers,
M.
