
Separate forum for each Elektron box

Posted by SecondChance - 2013/01/28 08:32

Separate forum for each Elektron box please. Or at least an enforced A4, OT, MD, MM prefix to posts. And a forum for using them together. Most posts are completely irrelevant to me. Puts me off wading through the posts for stuff I don't have or don't want.

Cheers,
B

Hey Secondchance, this has been suggested several times before. Seems like a good suggestion to me, but for reasons detailed in another thread earlier today, no changes will be made to this forum until the advent of Elektronauts.

I think it'll be taken care of in Elektronauts.

but what happens when u wanna discuss how to midi sequence your MD from your OT while processing via the A4? Just a suggesting a Quadrinity forum option as well.

If this forum (or Elektronauts when it is online) allows for child boards, you could have a general "Elektron Gear" forum, and within that child boards for each machine. That way you could have a more general area for questions about integrating the machines together, but specific questions for each machine as well.
