
Heading to Boston - Last week of June!

Posted by johnathon doe - 2013/05/17 04:25

Hey Everybody,

My brother and I are making a pilgrimage to Cooperstown and Fenway Park.
We'll be in Boston Friday June 28th - Sunday June 30th.

Does anyone have any knowledge of decent house/techno etc. nights?
We're going to the 4pm game on Saturday, so if we went out it would most likely be Saturday evening. Friday may also be up for grabs.

Thanks for your time and consideration.

peace

Hey Brian,

Thanks for the heads up on RA.
I didn't think to check there, but it's definitely a good resource.

Any of you locals aware of anything?

Don't live there any more but check out Boston.com in addition to RA. The other thing to do is to scout out some of the many college radio stations in Boston, find a techno/EDM show, and call/email the DJ. They should be pretty clued in. College radio can be a bit dead in the summer but worth a shot. Or just go to the Middle East Cafe, you never know what you will hear but chances are it is somewhat interesting.

really appreciate all of the assistance guys.

hey gys,

other than the game at fenway on saturday, we don't have any definitive plans. most likely going to take the duck tour and hit up the sam adams tour (we love our beer!).

any thoughts on places to eat, sites to see etc?

we'll be staying near the prudential center/copley square.

peace

I'd go catch me some of that war on ice, also known as the Pens vs Bruins series!

oops: just noticed the date - late June...at that point the Bruins could be in the finals.

hey everybody,

thanks again for the heads up.

we're heading to cooperstown ny to see the hall on thursday.

we'll be in boston friday to sunday (ball game is on saturday - if the weather holds).

any further info would be wonderful.

spotted one after-hours on resident advisor.
AFTER HOURS

other than that....nothing really close to 'downtown'.

peace
