
M4 Preview (naked alpha)

Posted by guga - 2013/06/28 05:47

hello everyone,

i've started to work on a new project and i thought i would share this in the forum. it's still in its early stages, missing some features but the basics are there (this is the little brother of something bigger...)

let me know what you think; comments and suggestions are welcome ps: did some research but haven't found something like this on the web...if anyone knows of something similar, please let me know, i wouldn't like to end up reinventing the wheel :) :blush:

Hey Guga, can you elaborate on what you're doing here & what you're ultimately want to achieve with this?

It's sometimes difficult to tie your movements in with the audio.

Cheers & best of luck :)

:) well...i can give you a couple of hints: it's a MIDI controller (not device specific, the MnM just happened to be there) and the idea came from one of Elektrons' machines :whistle: ...

Yeah, it looks interesting, but it's hard to tell what you're really doing. Keep us posted! :)

...i was thinking about throwing a wee contest here then...

something like: the first person to find out what this controller does, will be automatically enrolled in the public beta and will get a free controller. entries will be considered valid starting from this coming friday at 20:00 CET. how does it sound? :)

It's an external circuit bending device !

...it has been a week now since the beginning of the 'contest' and it looks like it's either too difficult to understand what is going on in the video or there's not so much interest in this device...either way, someone from the forum would be happy to get one of this so i guess i'll call this off and make sure he gets a beta version as soon as ready.

@daffydub: nope, is not a circuit bending device, sorry

I'm gonna chime in with the guess I sent privately to guga. It appears to be taking the crossfader/scene functionality of the Octatrack and making it general so it can work with any MIDI devices. Cool idea!

Is it a 12-bit crusher a-la the MD? Sounds very 8-bit sometimes too. Either way, whatever it's doing sounds pretty great.

I'd love to beta test too, whatever it is!!

Guga I'm going to check your video again, I just learned about your update to the project right now. A lot of us have been doing the beta-testing for the new Elektron forum so I am not checking E-U as regularly as before, only once or twice a day.
