Octatrack Sample Manager

As per title. Who would like an Octatrack Sample Manager?

It would assist with the ability manage / manipulate project files, sample slots, locations rah de rah

- Would you use it?
- What format would you like? (Windows? OSX? Standalone? Excel/VBA? All of the above?)
- What would you like to see?
- Would you pay for it?

PS: If you are one of the chosen special ones; please post here not a chosen special one so posting here :)

- yes I would use it
 - OSX please
 - I would love to see the ability to assign/re-assign sample to slots :woohoo: it would be great to use my computer screen and the mouse+keyboard to e.g. drag samples into flex/static slots within a project. seeing this laid out in a big list would help me know what is where in my slots when I go to play!
 - I would be willing to pay a small fee as I can live without it. If it was solid + maintained maybe $10-15.

Hi all thank you for having me be part of this forum.

Yes!

Octatrack sampler manager will be welcomed. I use OS X but all formats especially stand alone, will also be very useful. Bridging Octatrack with the computer is a wonderful idea, I would like the ability to dumped tracks to my Pro Tools session without using cables.

Yes, I will pay for this.

I'd pay a good chunk of money - up to $99 - for a tool like this, especially if it let me create and edit slice points on samples using a mouse before transmitting them to the OT.

Sounds great.

I would pay easy 100â¬ for this it's well worked out and releases me off the stress to put all my samples in slots with arrows on the OT.

Hi Rusty

I would love a sample manager

I would use it

Format: Windows stand alone

Just a basic librarian would be fine, any extras would be a welcome bonus. I'm really looking for the ability to build banks from various projects for live use, recording etc.

Price would depend on the amount of functionality, but yes i would pay up to about Â£30

Sign me up, defo +1 from me, and would be willing to pay

Windows OS for me too

Biggest thing for me would be copying banks/patterns (along with samples) between projects, so that I could take random home jams and compile them into live-friendly projects.

Also checking for duplicate samples, since sometimes these get renamed and I will usually want to go with the descriptive name rather than the autogenerated one with the date.

Oh, yeah, and I'm on Windows.

+1 for osx version. Can pledge some reasonable $ for a solid octabrarian, though ultimately a pity this functionality isn't built into the os. Does hq have any longer term plans in this regard?

OSX for me :)

Was thinking of developing something like that myself in Java (multi-platform) but without help from Elektron and because i am a new dad, its gonna be difficult to find the time.

I don't know if Elektron could provide any info about the file format of the Octatrack ?

Anyway count me in !

would definitely pay if it included intelligent/automated sample chaining on windows. would probably still pay if it didn't
