OT stopped ?
Posted by drÃ–ne - 2013/09/17 18:09

Hi,

I was looking to buy an OT in France, but this machine is hard to find. I ask to a guy in a chop who answer me that the production of the OT was to be sopped. Does someone have information on the future of the OT ?

Cheers

==========

Re:OT stopped ?
Posted by purusha - 2013/09/17 19:30

I had a long wait for my Machinedrum. I was told that there was a shortage of some components for the build.

I guess it's possible that there may be similar issues on the Octatrack?

==========

Re:OT stopped ?
Posted by the dreammer - 2013/09/17 22:58

I would be suprised beyond believe, if they stopped making octatracks today or tomorrow.
they been building machinedrums and monomachines for a decade...

U can always ask the nice elektron people.. send them an email.. then u be sure..

==========

Re:OT stopped ?
Posted by drÃ–ne - 2013/09/18 02:46

I hope you're all right. The fact is that in France, even in Paris, there's no OT in stock in any music store. That's sound strange ! And I didn't see any in second hand.

==========

Re:OT stopped ?
Posted by grumly - 2013/09/20 23:40

Seems to be available in stars-music : http://www.stars-music.fr/elektron-octatrack-dps1-sampler.html

==========

Re:OT stopped ?
Posted by dataline - 2013/09/20 23:53

To make things clear for all of us, production for Octatrack is not stopped.

You can buy it direct from elektron.se.

==========

Re:OT stopped ?
Posted by drÃ–ne - 2013/09/22 22:08

As I was in Paris for a few days, I bought the only OT left in Star's music. Cool !

==========

Re:OT stopped ?

Posted by the dreammer - 2013/09/23 05:04

_____

drÃ–ne wrote:
As I was in Paris for a few days, I bought the only OT left in Star's music. Cool !

congratulations... enjoy your machine buddy

==========