
Dub techno recommendations

Posted by josker - 2013/08/24 08:05

Hey,

Trying to get into this fine genre. I've listened to some mixes and Fingers in the noise, but it's proved a bit difficult to find the gems. I'd be really thankful of any mixes and especially artists you'd like to throw my way. Se let us know your personal favorites. Thanks!

=====

Re:Dub techno recommendations

Posted by void - 2013/08/24 08:25

fav: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Q5zcPO0J9nk>

=====

Re:Dub techno recommendations

Posted by poonti - 2013/08/24 09:58

Can't go wrong with Deepchord/Echospace:

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=vVf0OwyjCo0>

=====

Re:Dub techno recommendations

Posted by dubathonic - 2013/08/24 22:32

'the seduction of silence' by intrusion.

=====

Re:Dub techno recommendations

Posted by TrondC - 2013/08/24 22:38

start with the roots and check out the Basic Channel and Maurizio catalogues. Also, if you are into a little experimental and different kind of dubtech, check out Tilliander and one of his dozens of aliases: Mokira, TM404, Repeatle etc

=====

Re:Dub techno recommendations

Posted by Artsutanov - 2013/08/25 05:46

If anyone's London based come and see G.R.I.T. And Deepchord play live next Friday at Plan B in Brixton.

<http://www.residentadvisor.net/event.aspx?506778>

=====

Re:Dub techno recommendations

Posted by josker - 2013/08/25 10:36

Wow, thanks for the recommendations so far!

Deepchord and Echospace sound very good to me. As does Intrusion!

I'll have to dig around for the Liumin album by Deepchord and Echospace, the vid on Youtube was really great.

Also I seemed to hit it off with Basic Channel. I'll have to dig deeper to get to know the Tilliander stuff, Spotify has made me lazy and I mostly go for stuff that's readily available there... Boring, I know.

I would very much encourage you to keep going, this is great stuff!

=====

Re:Dub techno recommendations

Posted by Barfunkel - 2013/08/25 16:16

TrondC wrote:

start with the roots and check out the Basic Channel and Maurizio catalogues.

This pretty much. For inspiration and as a blueprint, these can't be beat.

Also, though not sure if the connoisseurs would say it's minimal or dub techno (IMO there's very little difference, as most dub techno is quite minimal in nature), check Starlight by Model 500. One of my favorite deep techno tunes for sure!

=====

Re:Dub techno recommendations

Posted by shemp - 2013/08/26 09:44

The OP did mention techno, but how about Rhythm & Sound as a recommendation?

=====

Re:Dub techno recommendations

Posted by dj_d_oz - 2013/08/26 22:39

<http://youtube.com/watch?v=ewC0NWjpaZI>

Marko Fursrenberg goes alright.

=====

Re:Dub techno recommendations

Posted by poonti - 2013/08/26 23:02

Theorem and Dub Taylor are a couple of other artists that come to mind...

=====

Re:Dub techno recommendations

Posted by YNE - 2013/08/27 02:49

A lot of my favourites already posted here. I would add Deadbeat to the list...

=====

Re:Dub techno recommendations

Posted by Dubchopps - 2013/09/18 00:24

In addition to the producers already mention above, I can also recommend Atheus.

