
your very first elektron users post...

Posted by kirlian - 2013/09/19 11:09

this was mine:

http://www.elektron-users.com/index.php?option=com_fireboard&func=view&Itemid=28&catid=13&id=47695#47695 kinda goofy in many respects, but at that time my very best, inspired by the community. i have always been challenged by the music makers here.

reminds me of my days living in germany. ah... elektron users will always be my roots. and after quite a few years of owning elektron boxes, i've come back to using them as they shine the best: live machines of mayhem.

my first, all elektron live show just happens to be 24 September, 2013! then same day this joint closes up for good. so fitting. i won't be able to do it justice, but i'll try my ballz off.

thanks EUSERS!

what was your first post here?

here's mine! 7 years, 10 months ago. WOWZERS.

This idea is great, kirlian. :D

here it is in case people don't want to click through:

"I got my monomachine a few weeks ago, and I have to say that I have never been so excited about learning a piece of equipment. Fortunately work has been very slow lately -- and while I can't bring it to work and mess with it, I can read the manual. Which I've done. 4 times. And I think about it. Constantly.

So I just wanted to say "hi." And I can't wait to learn from the mm masters on this board.

Hi!

Haha, great thread C! It's like a reminiscing thread for the veterans :laugh: :backslap:

I'm feeling a bit sad that this place is finally closing its doors, and I will miss the good times we've had on this board. Elektronauts will pick up where EU left off though.

Here's my first post, 7 years and 8 months ago (beat me there PT), asking for an extinct OS for the MD...

Hi everyone

Does anyone know where to get the os 1.20 for the Machinedrum these days? Sorry for the stupid question, I haven't been in touch with the Elektron world for a long time..

Regards,
Nils
Norway

Good luck with your set! (which btw happens to be the day before my 40th birthday.. :blink:)

This thread has made me a bit nostalgic. I hadn't actually looked to see how long EU had been a part of my life. Those were probably the most important years for me musically.

Thanks to all of you (you know who you are, or at least you should) who have had an influence on me, my music, etc. You've shared knowledge, your creations, and, most importantly, your friendship.

I will miss this place as it existed during it's best years. Everything changes, I suppose, even online communities for esoteric hobbies.

:kiss:

+1 to that!

On mine, I'm as usual asking lots of detailed questions and, also as usual, getting great answers from this helpful crew. (among them Tarekith and Darenager, both still here, still fountainheads of knowledge.)

'Twas a mere four years ago, and nearly a year before I even bought my first piece of Elektron gear. What a noob I am :P

Yeah groovy idea this :) its 1year and 8 months ago i started my elektron-voyage with a bit of music, and to say hello..
http://www.elektron-users.com/index.php?option=com_fireboard&func=view&Itemid=28&catid=10&id=163769#163769

I am still having lots of fun reading your thoughts and hearing your music.
as it is fun to talk about me and sharing my puppetry and other acts of weirdness.
so hope to see you all on the other site, to continue this..

Hello world,

I am new, bought my octatrack about a week ago..
so to give it a nice test, i hooked up an x0xb0x.

so for your entertainment.. the song:

:laugh: great thread for the nostalgia.

My first post (only 4 years 10 months ago?) was about the age old software-hardware midi sync issues. I used to write so eloquently. How very strange.

Cheers to you all and farewell e-u. :beer: :watch:

it seems this last post went down like a lead balloon :silly:

Mine:

I can't remember the last time I had so much fun with a single piece of kit. The OT is a work of art. Yeah, sure, it's got some quirks and bugs and the manual isn't the clearest on some of the trickier aspects but what Elektron have created here is organic and eclectic and often indistinguishable from magic.

Only 2 and 3/4 years ago though!

Have to say, even though I sold my Monomachine and I'm not massively enamoured with my A4, I still feel the same way about the Octatrack. I guess there's an Elektron box for everyone!
