

---

Introducing new Moderators!

Posted by actuel - 2007/11/28 02:25

---

I want to take the opportunity to formally announce our two new moderators to Elektron-Users, Tarekith and Papertiger. Both have been assets to the community for a long while. Here's a few words>

Tarekith: Located first in Chicago, and more recently Seattle, Tarekith has been writing and performing electronic music of all styles for over 17 years now. His music has been released on numerous record labels such as Ritmic, Virus B-23, Working Beats, and Litespeed Recordings. In addition to running a studio geared towards providing quality mastering for musicians on a budget, Tarekith is also one of the moderators behind AbletonLiveDJ.com, whose aim is pushing the art of DJing and electronic music further as technology progresses.

Papertiger: Hailing from the edge of Washington, DC, Papertiger has been dabbling with digital audio for close to ten years but has yet to release anything as a result of a lack of talent combined with an innate inability to finish anything. Her bedroom studio is home to several music machines, at least two of which are nearer and dearer to her heart than some people she knows. As a long-time member of the EU community, Papertiger is excited to welcome new members and maintain the EU vibe.

I'm quite excited about this and honored to have them moderate for us. Both are really great folks. Plus, it's less of me for everyone! :lol:

Cheers,
a

=====

Re: Introducing new Moderators!

Posted by ingrid - 2007/11/28 02:45

---

Congratulation and welcome to the new staff! I know you both as nice and constructive people; I'm sure you will serve the community well. :-)

-Ingrid

=====

Re: Introducing new Moderators!

Posted by hageir - 2007/11/28 04:25

---

<http://www.partybox.co.uk/data/images/completpackhappybirthday.jpg>
<http://www.flagandbanner.com/f-b-images/dbann38welc2.jpg>

=====

Re: Introducing new Moderators!

Posted by Nils - 2007/11/28 08:04

---

This is good news! Congratulations :-)

=====

Re: Introducing new Moderators!

Posted by ThinkTanx - 2007/11/28 09:41

---

actuel wrote:

Papertiger: Hailing from the edge of Washington, DC, Papertiger has been dabbling with digital audio for close to ten years but has yet to release anything as a result of a lack of talent combined with an innate inability to finish anything. Her bedroom studio is home to several music machines, at least two of which are nearer and dearer to her heart than some people she knows. As a long-time member of the EU community, Papertiger is excited to welcome new members and maintain the EU vibe.

---

A lawyer as one of our mods! I shudder to think of the possible ramifications!! 8-)

=====

Re: Introducing new Moderators!

Posted by Toni - 2007/11/28 13:03

---

Congratulations for the new moderators. Based on my experience here, they are both good people. It's very nice to see Elektron-users.com as a forum clear of bashing and name-calling. It would seem to continue that way, with the well chosen new moderators. :-)

=====

Re: Introducing new Moderators!

Posted by OrsanKart - 2007/11/28 14:53

---

more people to catch us out....well in guys!!!

=====

Re: Introducing new Moderators!

Posted by Tarekith - 2007/11/28 15:25

---

A lawyer as one of our mods! I shudder to think of the possible ramifications!! 8-)

Don't worry, I've been breaking the law for years, so it all balances out. :-D

Thanks all for the welcome!

=====

Re: Introducing new Moderators!

Posted by emisor9 - 2007/11/28 15:28

---

Nice to know good people have been chosen but still wondering the motivation or the need since this forum is pretty civil and thus self regulating or maybe there is more to come ???

=====

Re: Introducing new Moderators!

Posted by divi - 2007/11/28 17:27

---

welcome peoplez!

=====

Re: Introducing new Moderators!

Posted by scuto - 2007/11/28 17:53

---

Congrats, y'all!

=====

---

Re: Introducing new Moderators!

Posted by actuel - 2007/11/28 18:08

---

eminor9 wrote:

Nice to know good people have been chosen but still wondering the motivation or the need since this forum is pretty civil and thus self regulating or maybe there is more to come ???

I agree eminor9, things are really civil and there's not a lot of moderating to be had around here. The motivation wasn't spawned in a effort to police more but to help offset much of my time reading every thread and making sure things remain civil.

I have been putting in a ridiculous amount of time into the building the new site, the Tribute to Daniel project, fixing bugs, answering emails, etc. It's more of having good folks helping to keep a Elektron-Users a great resource and place for all things Elektron. Having Tarekith and Papertiger just helps alleviate my time investment...not that I don't love you guys :-)

Somewhere in the midst of being the administrator, site designer, elektron-user support, moderator, Science Labs, etc I need to make time to actually make music, hang out with friends, be a father, and step away from here at times.

Hope this clears this up. Everything will continue to go on as it has, and I imagine no one will really notice anything different around here...other then the good things to come!

/adminy

=====