

---

The home page in IE7

Posted by Allerian - 2007/12/24 22:41

---

Cou;dn't locate my original post, but on the home page, the text in the grey box beneath the graphic wraps at about 1" wide. This makes that text area about 8" high on the screen.

I can screen shot it if I'm not describing it well enough.

-R

=====

Re:The home page in IE7

Posted by actuel - 2007/12/24 23:07

---

Allerian wrote:

Cou;dn't locate my original post, but on the home page, the text in the grey box beneath the graphic wraps at about 1" wide. This makes that text area about 8" high on the screen.

I can screen shot it if I'm not describing it well enough.

-R

I fixed the bug, just cause I like you, but in the future I'm not offering support to IE 6 or 7. Tthe site is currently working on both IE 6 & 7. Until IE 8, which is suppose to support standards & pass teh 'acid test', I suggest using Firefox.

(steps off pedestal) :lol:

cheers buddy!

=====

Re:The home page in IE7

Posted by Allerian - 2007/12/25 02:05

---

Much better.

=====