It definitely looks like it, unless... I keep them all - which, at the given price, is the most likely scenario. I'm using eBay less and less, as a seller... because the invoices keep coming from nowhere... and in comparison to the income... well... it makes me wonder if it's really worth it.

...I've found cool people on Portuguese, Dutch, Spanish, American (...) forums... and much prefer to sell there than on eBay.

As a matter of fact, just yesterday I sold one Korg 168RC to a portuguese fellow, and I have both the Halo and the WSA1 under negotiation with another portuguese and a spanish fellows. There's also an interested spanish compa±ero on the practically free Kawai R-100...

I feel it much more rewarding to trade in a "real" community, than on a fee-based, all-mighty, million-dollar-corporation (eBay, Paypal, Skype... and more...) based so-called "community".

And yes, sometimes I rather loose some â¬ than sell it on â¬bay.

HINT: I WILL CONSIDER TRADES:

- MD UW MKII Â»Â» EDIT: GOT IT
  - SFX-6 Â»Â»Â» EDIT: GOT IT
  - Spectralis Â»Â» EDIT: GOT IT
  - Sidstation
  - Sherman Filterbank Â»Â» EDIT: GOT IT
- Preferably boxed, as new, with manuals, etc.

1. Prices are in euros
2. 850 for a uw (even mk1) with tm1, as new in box, is, I believe, a little too... little...

Thanks for the interest though.

IÂ'll try to post some pics

Or... email them, if you give me your address.

Anyway, it is in a very good condition.

Cosmetically, IÂ'd say, about 7,5/10 ?

Functionally, 100%

The manual is available in PDF

It is kind of funky to program, but the manual really helps (itÂ's invaluable!).
