
Elektron-User FAQ added

Posted by actuel - 2008/02/27 07:09

I've added a FAQ page to the site. You can get there via the main navigation bar. It's technically a wiki, all registered users can and are encouraged to help build the FAQ.

The most common thread on this site after 4 years is, "How do I...". This is from both new and veteran users. From basic, to advance, and even the bizarre it comes up again and again. Most of these queries have been asked before and answered. While searching is encouraged, fishing through threads can be trying. So I'm hoping the FAQ can serve as a knowledge repository for all.

I've already established a basic layout. Feel free to add and play with it. It's the communities! See something useful or tip, add it. You'll find there's a 'Playground' and 'Syntax' page in the FAQ to help assist you in posting new information. Also, feel free to look over what I have already started.

in loving service,
adminy

btw, consider the FAQ in 'beta'. both programmatically and in it's infancy of knowledge. let's make it useful!

Nice one!
I fixed some spelling errors / phrasing and added a tip on sample size :)
