
2 new sketches....

Posted by tIB - 2008/03/26 05:20

....can be found at my virb, both mono only (2 of).

Theyre (very) rough first takes, live one track records, no processing, #1 is pretty noisy (but quite fun), #2 goes nowhere (and isnt), if I get time I might try and give them some more finishing/structure.

If you got the time or inclination give them a play...

As a point of interest #2 includes some of the clanky noises from Allerians sandboxed from above sysex file, I enjoyed trawling through someone elses patches and learnt a bit too.

These may well be the last I post for a while, move to Bangkok in two weeks armed only with sfx60, micromodular and tinny senheissers. Be warned, if I do post anything soon the chances are the mixing will be even worse than these!

Jah!

I like your commitment to poetic imperfections. Keep up the good work. These definitely have character.

Bangkok sounds like fun.

I like your commitment to poetic imperfections. :lol:

Why thankyou, sometimes (as with these) its a case of needs must- only had an hour to get those right(ish), so its pattern jamming all the way to BKK!

The first one is cool, there's definitely a good track in there.

Thanks Mr Pikk, got to say that the first one was most definately influenced by your very own recent work. :)

Im hoping to get that one into song mode so I can mess with the sounds on the other mono while its ticking over. The levels need balancing and some of it needs sharpening as you cant pick certain sounds out of the mix...just need the t-i-m-e-! :unsure:
