multi-map mode: only 32 patterns?

Posted by rockland - 2005/06/18 03:24

_____

i'm doing grunt work here, assigning midi notes to trigger all the patterns i've been working away on here, but the multi-map editor is only allowing me to assign 32 patters (A01-B16).
 is it only able to assign 32 patterns? that seems kinda silly to me, so i must be doing something wrong.

steve

==

Re: multi-map mode: only 32 patterns?

Posted by chiasticon - 2005/06/18 03:54

_____

it's like the song sequencer. in order to add/remove rows you need to use the function + up/down cursor keys (respectively).

==

Re: multi-map mode: only 32 patterns?

Posted by rockland - 2005/06/18 04:32

_____

I tried this already, but it still won't let me have more then 32 assigned patterns. when i get to the bottom row, pushing + doesnt do anything.

==

Re: multi-map mode: only 32 patterns?

Posted by chiasticon - 2005/06/18 19:05

_____

oh. then I don't know. I just figured this out because mine only had 12 in it when I cracked it open to look at it for you. I didn't try going up to 32 and beyond, but I just figured that it would.

==

Re: multi-map mode: only 32 patterns?

Posted by MokBor - 2005/06/18 19:19

_____

Trust me, song mode goes way beyond 32. I averange 128 entry's or more a song. Just navigate to end and press the pattern number. Than it will appear. Maybe your fiddelin with the offset and length?

==

Re: multi-map mode: only 32 patterns?

Posted by chiasticon - 2005/06/18 20:21

_____

he's talking about multi-map mode still. it just works like song mode (hence me bringing it up), but apparently not entirely.

==

Re: multi-map mode: only 32 patterns?

Posted by glaive - 2005/06/18 21:23

_____

If there is a limit of 32 patterns, could you just switch to a new Global config that has a new map? That way you could get 8 X 32 patterns.

==

Re: multi-map mode: only 32 patterns?

Posted by rockland - 2005/06/18 23:16

_____

i thought of using the different global settings, but thats really a pain in the ass, and i'd like to be free to switch to any pattern from any pattern at any chosen moment. I don't want to worry about changing global settings first, and then the pattern.

I emailed elektron about it. if it is a software limitation, it's something i'd like to see upgraded. the MD doesn't have any problems doing this exact same thing; it doesn't make sense that the MnM is incapable of this.

steve

==

Re: multi-map mode: only 32 patterns?

Posted by glaive - 2005/06/19 00:51

_____

Let us know what they say, I'm interested.

==