I've been using this method for some time, i use the same input as for my UW wich i feed from the AUX on my mixer...

Set the trig input to a channel, and adjust the levels so it spitts notes... and GND>IMP or RAM rec or play for that channel.... very usefull , especially if you uw synths... you can get more unrhythmic results...

Made a mp3..

first gndimp the a snare, then gnd nois... and last UW>play....

Heres one with some synths...

Fist imp, then some other stuff... after hihat it's WUplay...

Thats a pretty usefull way of using the inputsTRIG... i always has one going and smattering somewhere behind in my tracks...
