Good luck to you...I had mine on ebay for that price and it didn't go...so I have it relisted at $699 including a dedicated noise gate...not to draw attention away from yours, or anything.

actually, I really do need the money. plus i can still get by with the SID emulation on the monomachine, though it is not quite the same... if it sells, i'll probably end up buying one again after things calm down a little.
