
one day i'll stop playing around...

Posted by mr_snugglz - 2005/10/10 04:33

...but till then, do i love live tweaking with the CTRL-AL machine!!!

another 1 pattern live tweak session, just a small excerpt.

<http://www.elektron-users.com/modules/wfdownloads/singlefile.php?cid=27&lid=87>

the odd thing is about 3/4 way through, i somehow got this "free time" type of feel, where a drummer breaks down and usually does a lot of crazy rolls, right, like at the end of about 50% of all rock tunes...i don't know how it happened, but it's kinda similar...i thought it was funny

p.s. sorry this clip apparently got submitted twice :-o

=====

Re: one day i'll stop playing around...

Posted by Acidfever - 2005/10/10 10:13

Sounds cool.....does sound 100% Machinedrum though.

not that that is a bad thing or anything....just very recognisable. Doesn't that ever bother you (it bothers me sometimes....that's why i am asking you).

I think i'll have to dig into these CTR-AL machines....the variation sounds like fun.

=====

Re: one day i'll stop playing around...

Posted by glaive - 2005/10/10 13:47

p.s. sorry this clip apparently got submitted twice :-o

I made the second one go away. We are busy working on elektron-users.com, version 2, which uses different content management software. The new site will have a new look, and the uploads will work a lot better.

=====