
New techno track: Turing's Dream

This one is a chilled/deep techno 10 minute epic, so most people will probably get bored within 30 seconds... lol

I did the mix in Live in one take (that includes playing the synth pad part), then tweaked a few clips here and there. Most of the drums / percussion were done on my MD. The rest is a couple of sample loops from my ER1 and Motif Synth.

I'll probably remix it to make a more in-yer-face version, but I love recording stuff in one take... I think it reflected my mood quite well... It's the first arrangement I've done in Ableton Live.

Any comments appreciated, good or bad!

I like it so far - I am a few minutes in. Sounds like you are real close to getting that live set together, no?

Thanks, yeah - I'm just getting the hang of Ableton Live, but can see how the combo of Live and Elektron hardware could work really well. The MD can sound a little flat on its own, but the fx in Live can really bring it on.
