BELLS CLANGING will make its first NYC appearance on Monday, Nov 14.? Jason

Starnes (ex-kids these days) meshes live synthesis with soaring melodies.?

Think Kraftwerk covering early Built to Spill and vice-versa.

This free show starts at 8pm at Scenic, that amazing retro lounge in the?East Village w/ Good News Club.

dude what's with your website? it takes like 80% of my CPU and only gives me the date you've already listed. I mean, it's beautiful, but I want images, sound and gear pr0n! :-D seriously, though...kraftwerk meets built to spill... I really wanna hear some of this!

Are you getting this issue in Safari? The site worked fine for me using Firefox under Linux. There might be something wonky with the Flash he uses, or with the way Safari tries to play it.

I was able to view it and hear it with safari no problem.

ah ok. i didn't have my sound up when i went there. i was expecting a label of what's what so i could know that i should turn my speakers up to hear stuff. and for me, it pegs safari near 100% the whole time its rendering the flash animation. if i switch tabs in safari, it goes back to normal, of course (and the music still played).

anyway, my nitpicking aside, the site's sweet and the songs are great. i'm sad that i'm too far from NYC to see you, cuz i'd like to. you definitely have that doug martsch sound in your voice too :-) thanks for the links to the tracks! keep us posted on other shows.

I've gotten that excessive CPU issue in lots of Flash sites. It's a Safari problem :/
