Seriously, where are you finding this price? Maybe I can get a deal on another SFX-60 from this magical place you made up speak of.

Well...$1600 is a normal price...and $100 less ain't much. Considering you are taking your chances with a stranger...you are better off buying new. Now, for $1300-1400...that is a different story.

nah, my friend is an elektron dealer. $1520 is pretty standard. $1400 is a bit pricey IMO not trying to pick a fight or anything. Maybe someone will buy it- who knows.

I get a serious discount on Ford and Harley-Davidson vehicles, but that fact doesn't make someone else's prices unrealistic. And for pete's sake, you must already have an MD, so you're either trying to down my sale or just sound cool, right "friend"? ;-)

I paid $1640 direct from Elektron two months ago and I'd like to see most of that back since it's perfectly brand new. If you're so connected will you get me a dealer price on an SFX-60? How about for all of us on Elektron-Users?

You are going to get your best price on ebay I would imagine. Allerian, no offense...but you can get one for $1600 new...so your used price seems steep. Good luck though...the machine looks great in the photo.

Why are you getting so defensive? My friend sells them new from the shop at 1570 I get a little $50 discount. Wow! Take your own logic to heart- if you drive a new ford or harley off the lot, regardless of whether you purchase it or not, it depreciates a good $2-3000. Your uw is no different, but I wish you the best of luck.

So... let's reread "defensive" as "really curious". Where can I get an MD-UW for $1570? And what exactly is thier price on an SFX-60? I'm sure we would all like to know.

I don't mind bashing you since your too afraid to post under a user name. That is the dumbest logic I've ever heard. Not everything depreciates like a car JACKASS! There are plenty of people who would be happy to save $200 on a new unit.

I tell ya, I sure as heck would have paid $1500 when I was looking for an MD UW. Within hours of putting it on ebay I had a few offers and then, a Buy it Now'er.

Methinks we're never going to discover this place that sells them for $1570...

just search the dealers....any music store will lower the price a to make a sale. Some profit is better than no profit. Do you not know how to bargain shop?
