This time I think they actually might. On the other hand, I would expect the hype to start right about now if there were going to.

Actually I'm more excited about seeing the new A&H console. Supposedly there's going to be a prototype there well then consider this the start of the hype :lol:

You going?

the klingon starship on the website banner is quality. The current economic climate means it is risky to release anything that costs over a certain amount i reckon. The american show reflected this I think. A few low cost items that fill the gaps. I'm generally feeling negative about stuff at the moment though. Mainly due to politicians spouting utter bollocks. Wankers. Lets see what it will bring.

Elektron haven't written anything about their Messe presence on their website.
THAT MUST MEAN SOMETHING!!!

:lvl: :know: :word: :shh: :suspect: :game:

No, not trying to hype anything..

Have to see how time permits. It's not far from me so I could in principle. But I'm scared I'd just blow a bunch of cash I don't have.

No, not trying to hype anything..

Bet youve been testing it for years :laugh:

I guess the fat lady has sing. Hmmm... was first or second time? :laugh:

Take a hard look what is at the front page of Elektron.

What is the thing behind the figure?

Is it just tapestry or maybe something else?

Look for the red lamp.

Lady only sings once.

Case, remember the case they had at the NAMM.

Observe the other artist stories too.

Machine album isn't what you think it is.

Enigma it is.

:laugh: Tehy don't have to tease us, we'll do it ourself! :laugh:

Elektron product development == Twin Peaks.

Agent Cooper tried to unravel his mystery and look what happened to him. :walkaway:

I'm GASing for a Synthi AKS. :unsure: But a new Elektron sampler/fx box would do me fine! :cheer:

^ find 'synthi AKS'... replace with 'serge m-class'! :lol:

You seen EMS are now apparently go on the new builds?

Yeah. I assume they're all basically spoken for though. And it's still a case of "wait a year to 18 months", which doesn't give me a lot of confidence. Plus, I would really want the blue sequencer (the KS), which I don't think he's gonna do at this point. It will be interesting to see how close he gets to the original sound though. Those original osc's are so pure! :lvl:

I've wanted one forever. It's the one piece of GAS that sticks with me. sigh

^ I can understand why... beautiful instrument. I think some of the people on that list have been waiting for a lot longer than 18 months. great to see its happening though.

Oh hell yes! Some people have been on there for at least 5 years or more. I know cause I contemplated getting on it myself that long ago. :laugh:
