Cookies...

They only last until I close Firefox and it's annoying to have to log on every time I'm in here. I wind up forgetting and so I write my post as "Friend".

Any chance you'll fix this? Also it would be nice to see which forum I'm posting in when I preview the post.

Interesting. I have applied a patch to the source which causes cookies to persist after the browser has been closed. It has worked for me for almost 10 months. Perhaps it's not working for someone else? Please let me know!

We are at the tail end of a major site revision wherein the forum is getting deeply streamlined. Let me implement the changes I have on my plate and launch the new site. Then, we can accept feature requests. I am happy to make additional modifications to the source, but I need to get out from under the current workload.

Cool, I've been wondering what happened to the new site plans. I'll wait until then with any suggestions. Wanna tell me when it'll launch? :)

Heh, ASAP, but I don't know how long that will be. The forum has a zillion little fiddly bits I need to track down and disable.

That's odd. Would you mind checking the version? Cookies work fine for me with Safari 2 and FF 1.0.7.

Cookies aren't working for me with Firefox 1.51 or IE on the PC. I have to relog in everytime. What's weird is that sometimes it will remember my user name, and sometimes it won't.

Thank you for reporting the issue. It will go away when we migrate to the new site architecture. Drupal, the new software, keeps you logged in until you specifcially log out.
