
buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by stufflinear - 2010/08/02 00:57

i know theres a thread here with pictures of a similar design.
i now found these other ones on Muff's based on the same design.
couldnt find the old thread now.
<http://img24.imageshack.us/img24/8835/742img17542.jpg>

=====

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by TrondC - 2010/08/02 01:00

those are made by Andrea, aka WhiteSushi :) looking very good indeed

=====

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by Indigo Fire - 2010/08/02 01:22

This is what mine looks like:

<http://www.indigo-fire.com/Images/funpics/mdmnm.jpg>

I can slide the MNM off when I need.
I made the sticky-up bits half encoder height so they're unobtrusive.
Shallow angle for good viewing.
And of course great for carrying around without risk of damage.

=====

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by RubixGroove - 2010/08/02 11:57

Did you make that Indigo? That looks pretty shweet!

=====

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by Indigo Fire - 2010/08/02 16:29

Yea, easy to make, anyone could do it. 19mm birch plywood stained with purple ink...

=====

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by bnek - 2010/08/02 18:56

Indigo Fire wrote:
This is what mine looks like:

<http://www.indigo-fire.com/Images/funpics/mdmnm.jpg>

I can slide the MNM off when I need.
I made the sticky-up bits half encoder height so they're unobtrusive.
Shallow angle for good viewing.
And of course great for carrying around without risk of damage.

that looks great. i'd love to make something like that but no skills :(

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by moni89 - 2010/08/02 22:12

I will be making this tomorrow. It's simple and efficient. Does anybody know about the old forum with other designs.

<http://www.flickr.com/photos/matrixsynth/2223762127/in/set-72157603807809499/>

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by Tarekith - 2010/08/02 23:04

Indigo Fire wrote:

Yea, easy to make, anyone could do it. 19mm birch plywood stained with purple ink...

Where did you get the ink? It doesn't bleed off onto anything?

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by Indigo Fire - 2010/08/03 01:59

Where did you get the ink? It doesn't bleed off onto anything?

The ink was given to my girlfriend as a present from Florence! :laugh: but I'm sure you could find some around on ebay e.g:

http://cgi.ebay.co.uk/Waterman-Premium-Ink-Bottle-50ml-Purple-Violet-/270607968417?cmd=ViewItem&pt=UK_Home_Garden_PensPencils_WritingEquipment_SM&hash=item3f017de8a1

And it hasn't bled on anything yet... but some beeswax furniture polish would solve that if it did.

Edit: here's another design: <http://www.flickr.com/photos/gattobus/4473201613/>

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by Indigo Fire - 2010/08/03 03:11

<http://www.indigo-fire.com/Images/funpics/mdmm.jpg>

MD

base length: 237mm

height: 57mm

Angle: 34 degrees. But check with your cables coming out the back first.

MNM

length: 176mm

height: 57mm

I've allowed for the rubber feet so the panels sit flush on the surface on which the machines are placed. (double check the measurements for yourselves)

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by cosmosuave - 2010/08/03 03:40

You make the rack in the background?

=====

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by Indigo Fire - 2010/08/03 03:54

Yeah, they are of course good old Ikea shelves I chopped up to make it....

=====

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by koshimazaki - 2010/08/03 06:57

Damn thats nice I just figured this is the only way to transport both machines in the hand language at least in ryanair.
Have to make it myself too.
Do you have to unscrew Mono each time you want to put it next to MD? Or is it just natural playing one on top of another after a while?

=====

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by grain - 2010/08/03 07:59

ok, mine's not buchla style, but I recently pimped my MD and Minicommand after swapping my Virus indigo II for a Mono (with a user here), and he gave me stands for the mono, so I had to get my MD and Minicommand looking as good...

...what? I made a stand for my Minicommand?! .. .YES i did!!! Hahah!

thought you'd like to see :P

=====

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by grain - 2010/08/03 07:59

ok., 400px... hold on minute...

=====

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by grain - 2010/08/03 08:02

=) <http://elektron-users.com/images/fbfiles/images/mdweb2.jpg>

=====

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by grain - 2010/08/03 08:02

=) <http://elektron-users.com/images/fbfiles/images/miniweb2.jpg>

=====

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by grain - 2010/08/03 08:03

=> <http://elektron-users.com/images/fbfiles/images/mnmweb2.jpg>

=====

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by grain - 2010/08/03 08:04

could do with some varnish on the MD wood :laugh:

=====

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by koshimazaki - 2010/08/03 08:05

Haha! :feelin: minicommand looks really cute with that stand! Well done :)

=====

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by koshimazaki - 2010/08/03 08:07

how do you like minicommand btw? Do you use it with both Mono and MD in the same set for example?

=====

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by grain - 2010/08/03 09:31

Minicommand is brilliant!! Yes it happily fits into MD + MnM live/studio setup.

It only controls MD the way I have it setup, but it rocks =>

Was glad the Mini-stand turned out so cute... => Was a bitch to make!
(no screwholes on sides, so had to make a kind of 'cradle' ... but she fits it like a glove. ooh!)

=====

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by TrondC - 2010/08/03 18:20

hah, that is indeed awesome :)

now that I think about it, I have access to my school facilities, I could very easily make some wooden side panels like that myself.. hmm :)

=====

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by Indigo Fire - 2010/08/03 21:39

KOSHIMAZAKI

Do you have to unscrew Mono each time you want to put it next to MD?

No, I can slide it off, I chopped a hinge in half so it ended up like two small versions of this:

http://www.houstonhinge.com/products/slip_apart_take_apart_hinge.jpg

Or is it just natural playing one on top of another after a while?

For me, playing like this is so much better (especially once patterns have been programmed) because of the direct view of everything.

=====

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by koshimazaki - 2010/08/03 21:53

@Indigo Fire Nice one! I can see benefits of playing like that, this is really neat set up I should force myself to do some woodwork. Cheers for the pics!

=====

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by Indigo Fire - 2010/08/03 22:02

My pleasure :)

=====

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by husc.sound - 2010/08/04 06:58

grain wrote:

=> <http://elektron-users.com/images/fbfiles/images/mdweb2.jpg>

Great work! Really ties the md together!! I am not good working with wood, but still would love to make these..

(offtopic) Can I ask how you labeled your md? I am experimenting with organizing the 16 tracks myself for live use and it might help to look how other people do it! Thanks.

=====

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by moni89 - 2010/08/04 16:20

I just made one of these with my friend last night (he's the handy-man). Im thinking about painting it black. It goes well with the machinedrum.

This is the design:

<http://www.flickr.com/photos/matrixsynth/2223762127/in/set-72157603807809499/>

But mine does not have such nice wood.

=====

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by moni89 - 2010/08/04 16:21

I just made one of these with my friend last night (he's the handy-man). Im thinking about painting it black. It goes well with the machinedrum.

This is the design:

<http://www.flickr.com/photos/matrixsynth/2223762127/in/set-72157603807809499/>

But mine does not have such nice wood.

=====

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by RubixGroove - 2010/08/04 23:30

These all look so nice... def gotta build one before I hit the tour-road with my MD!
Sucks laying it on an amp, being sweaty AND trying to adjust knobs and shit while playing drums too... ejole!

=====

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by grain - 2010/08/06 07:24

husc.sound wrote:

(offtopic) Can I ask how you labeled your md? I am experimenting with organizing the 16 tracks myself for live use and it might help to look how other people do it! Thanks.

It's labeled like so:

LOW (kicks, basses. ch 1-3)
MID PERC (mid range percussion. ch 4 + 5)
MnM FX (outputs 3+4 sent to MnM inputs for FX processing. ch 6+7)
HIGH (hi-hats and hi-freq stuff. ch 8,9,10,11)
TAP (sample to trigger via the key. no trigs in pattern, just for manual live tapping. ch12)
CT-8 (control 8 machine. ch 13)
CT-AL (control all machine. ch 14)
R1 (Ram record. ch 15)
P1 (Ram play. ch 16)

label yours how you like, then you will conform with those labels with all your patterns, and all your parts are easy to find.
Highly recommended!

=====

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by victorjohn - 2010/08/06 08:53

grain wrote:

husc.sound wrote:

(offtopic) Can I ask how you labeled your md? I am experimenting with organizing the 16 tracks myself for live use and it might help to look how other people do it! Thanks.

It's labeled like so:

LOW (kicks, basses. ch 1-3)
MID PERC (mid range percussion. ch 4 + 5)
MnM FX (outputs 3+4 sent to MnM inputs for FX processing. ch 6+7)
HIGH (hi-hats and hi-freq stuff. ch 8,9,10,11)
TAP (sample to trigger via the key. no trigs in pattern, just for manual live tapping. ch12)
CT-8 (control 8 machine. ch 13)
CT-AL (control all machine. ch 14)
R1 (Ram record. ch 15)
P1 (Ram play. ch 16)

label yours how you like, then you will conform with those labels with all your patterns, and all your parts are easy to find.
Highly recommended!

We are driving OT here, but I cannot resist!!! Grain are you using R1 and P1 do to DJ style transitions ala Wesen?

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by husc.sound - 2010/08/06 17:41

grain wrote:

It's labeled like so:

....

Highly recommended!

I was already organizing a workflow with the CTRL group, RAM, low and highs on the same tracks and it works so far!

Now i have to find a working lay-out and stick to it, great tip, thanks again!

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by koshimazaki - 2010/08/14 07:33

Made it ! :)

@ Indigo Fire cheers for the tips, helped me a lot. Still need to adjust the angle as it touches the cables. Might make some kind of a blocking for the hindges so they don't slide in the bag while transporting.

It's great so far, enjoying playing the machines even more.

<http://koshimazaki.com/radek/files/setup.jpg>

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by jon mr - 2010/08/14 15:00

made one a while ago from that ikea rack that someone mentioned. It's great for loading different rack synths, and I can take it apart pretty fast and it's easy for packing up after shows.

http://i38.photobucket.com/albums/e131/messerogers/MD_rack.jpg

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by jon mr - 2010/08/14 15:03

quick and dirty, but now I'm thinking of altering my design a bit with some hinges. It'd be nice to fold it up and bag it.

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by Indigo Fire - 2010/08/14 16:25

@ Koshimazaki: Wicked! Glad you did it and posted a pic, looks good.

If you ever find that the bits that come up (that separate the machines when closed) obtrusive, they can be lowered to nearly half the encoder height - makes it slimmer when closed too.

Nice!

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by koshimazaki - 2010/08/14 19:39

Yeah realised that, I have them in the size of encoders not a problem so far. Fits to my bag while the laptop is in. I made the angle on the lower ones too steep and Mono on the top touches the cables, need to attach rubber legs or will just glue up 2mm piece of wood on the top and that should do. Thanks again, I'm really happy that I did it. Don't remember doing anything out of wood before :) Its cool and it works!

:happyday:

=====

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by drox - 2010/08/15 06:34

jon mr wrote:

made one a while ago from that ikea rack that someone mentioned. It's great for loading different rack synths, and I can take it apart pretty fast and it's easy for packing up after shows.

http://i38.photobucket.com/albums/e131/messerogers/MD_rack.jpg

looks great just wondering which ikea rack this is looks great btw

=====

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by jon mr - 2010/08/15 08:46

drox wrote:

looks great just wondering which ikea rack this is looks great btw

Thanks. The ikea rack is the RAST bedside table referenced in thread HERE.

I bought two, chopped the one for the gear shown, and then used the second for all my compressors, finalizer, etc right behind it. Really works well and the wood looks great instead of having a bunch of metal racks.

=====

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by jon mr - 2010/08/15 08:48

<http://www.ikea.com/us/en/catalog/products/44361109>

=====

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by stufflinear - 2010/08/22 07:42

koshimazaki wrote:

Made it ! :)

@ Indigo Fire cheers for the tips, helped me a lot. Still need to adjust the angle as it touches the cables. Might make some kind of a blocking for the hindges so they don't slide in the bag while transporting.

It's great so far, enjoying playing the machines even more.

<http://koshimazaki.com/radek/files/setup.jpg>

nice one! B)

=====

Re:buchlastyle case for mnm and md.

Posted by drox - 2010/08/26 12:50

nice thanks

=====